

Weekly Writing - Week 1

John Skubik

28 August, 2025

1. Should AI Be Adopted in Schools?

When thinking about this question, I believe a combination of the two sides would ideally work the best. I think learning and struggling with the code is an important skill to have. The issue with generative AI is that it completely strips critical thinking from the equation. AI should be used as a tool. When it is overused, no critical thinking is required, which defeats the purpose of learning.