1. What are your thoughts on all coding is done with chat gpt or do you want to learn your trial and error of coding ourselves?

I believe that chat GPT can be helpful with correcting code and finding your errors, but many use it to copy paste assignments without actually understanding the material. I would prefer to use trial and error so that I learn from my mistakes. Chat GPT can still be a backup option to help you learn why the code is giving you an error, but overall I believe trial and error coding is the way to go.
