1. Thoughts about AI, all code in AI or learn to code by hand using AI as an aid

In general, I use AI for code piece hint. I used to tried writing all codes using AI before, and there are usually multiple errors that I can't solve because these redundant code pieces are not written by myself. Sometimes even with comments, I can't really understand it. So AI coding should just be an aid to accelerate understanding about coding. For example, I wasn't able to get any points about the use of `DataFrame` module in Python, and I asked if ChatGPT can provide me some simple example about how it works. I am not using it for the entire code since I may not fully understand what my code is doing.
