1. What are your thoughts on all coding being done on AI BOTs or do you want to learn actual coding?

I do feel like being able to code all by yourself is getting easier and easier with the AI tools provided to us but using AI to do all your coding work without even thinking or understanding how it works is not the right way to use it in my opinion. The necessary skill is (at least from the perspective of social science) to understand how coding works and which section of your code is responsible for what task. That is why I want to learn how codes work and, be able to do basic coding on my own.

Nevertheless, I do want to be fluent in R and/or in STATA as it will be very helpful in the future for me to conduct statistical analysis for research through a coding language suitable for my major and research.
